

The $16 Million Battleground

Tracking the Money, Shadow Campaigns, and Financial Scale in PA-07 (2026)

~$16M

Total Estimated District Spending
(Candidate + Party + Outside)

$4.14M

Democratic Ecosystem Spending
Advantage (Two-year period)

$4.36M vs $2.39M

Direct Candidate War Chests
(Mackenzie vs. Brooks)

$5M–$10M+

Shadow Factor (Estimated outside Super PAC support per side)

Democratic Committees Hold a Broader Ecosystem Advantage

$4.14 Million

Across candidates, party committees, and outside groups, total expenditure in PA-07 is estimated at ~$16 million. Despite the incumbent's direct fundraising lead, Democratic entities outspent Republican entities by over $4 million throughout the two-year cycle.

The Incumbent War Chest Outpaces the Challenger

Mackenzie holds a near 3:1 cash advantage heading into the final stretch of the campaign.

Contrasting Campaign Architectures

Mackenzie's infrastructure relies heavily on institutional backing, whereas Brooks is fueled overwhelmingly by grassroots volume.

Institutional Backers: Corporate Defense vs. Organized Labor

Mackenzie's Corporate Base	Brooks's Labor Base
Heavily backed by Defense, Energy, & Tech PACs.	Driven by union endorsements and PACs.
Chevron $5,000) Prudential $3,500) FirstEnergy $2,500) Honeywell $2,500) Unum Group $2,500) Lockheed Martin $2,000) Eli Lilly $2,000) HPE $2,000) General Dynamics $1,000) FedEx $1,000) *Also featuring: Comcast/NBCUniversal & Verizon.	 PA Professional Fire Fighters Association  PA AFL-CIO

Outside Spending Eclipses Direct Candidate Fundraising

Pro-Mackenzie Shadow Network

$5M to $10M+

in estimated outside support driven by the National Republican Congressional Committee (NRCC) and major ad reservations from the Congressional Leadership Fund (CLF).

PA-07
District

Pro-Brooks Shadow Network

Major ad buys from the DCCC and House Majority PAC (HMP).

Early primary gap-filling by Stronger Together PA, which deployed >$1 million during the primary, contributing to ~$2.1 million in early backing.

Micro-Issues Draw Distinct National Backing

The Middle East conflict has catalyzed targeted outside spending in PA-07.

Mackenzie

Backed by AIPAC / United Democracy Project, directing $57,839 in direct and earmarked contributions to his campaign.

Brooks

Received the official endorsement of JStreetPAC, a pro-diplomacy, pro-Israel peace advocacy group, marking a clear ideological divergence in donor base.

PA-07 Competitiveness vs. The Statewide Financial Blowout

The Summer Ad War: In Summer 2026 alone, Shapiro deployed $13.5M on TV ads against Garrity's $204K—a staggering 66:1 spending advantage.

Strategic Financial Power Dynamics in PA-07

The Incumbent Strategy (Mackenzie)	The Challenger Strategy (Brooks)
• Leverage vast corporate PAC network to maintain a 3:1 direct cash advantage. • Rely on CLF and NRCC super PACs for continuous air cover.	• Rely on grassroots, small-dollar volume and organized labor networks. • Depend heavily on DCCC and HMP gap-filling to overcome the severe cash-on-hand deficit.

The Bottom Line: A race defined not just by how much money is spent, but by the fundamental clash between corporate institutional backing and union-driven grassroots volume.